THE CHALLENGE

IS MET BY THE Faculty

In sending my greeting to the outstanding student body at Wakefield Senior High School I should like to send with it a thought about your future.

Recent developments make it imperative that every young person acquire specialized training in order to succeed in our present society. For Wakefield students going on to college this means a sound academic preparation for their college courses. For Wakefield students planning to enter the business world immediately after graduation this means preparation through vocational skills and the basic academic courses, which are required for every good citizen and employee.

Each of us knows that the demand for unskilled labor in the United States continues to decrease yearly. Authorities in the field of labor point out that this trend will cause the untrained worker to face serious unemployment possibilities in the future. These same experts point out that there will not be enough trained mechanics and craftsmen—not enough competent and trained office workers—nor enough scientists or other highly trained professional workers. The challenge of the future is clear for every Wakefield student: prepare yourself, spend the necessary time and effort to learn a trade, a business or a profession. Your efforts now will mean much to the future of yourself, your family, your community and our great Nation. Your future is in your hands. Now is the time to plan effectively for it.

RAY E. REID, Division Superintendent

Principal

DR. HAROLD WILSON

Dr. Harold Wilson has been Principal of Wakefield High School since its opening in 1953. During these eight years, Dr. Wilson's duties as administrative head have included, general co-ordination of the instructional program, and the selection, assignment, and evaluation of school personnel.

A member of Phi Beta Kappa, Dr. Wilson has attended George Washington University, the University of Indiana, and Vincennes University, receiving his Masters Degree in Secondary Education and his Doctor of Education in Administration and Supervision.

Apart from his other duties, Dr. Wilson is a member of the Reviewing Committee for the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, and in addition to this, he teaches a class, the History of Education, at George Washington University.

Mr. Renz and Mrs. Davies discuss the bright aspects of school life.

Assistant Principal

Formerly a member of the Social Studies Department, Mr. Henry Renz was appointed to an administrative capacity last year. As an Assistant Principal, his primary duties are concerned with the supervision of the staff. Also falling under his jurisdiction is the supervision of staff substitutes, the school bank, school publications, the bookstore, textbooks, clubs, transportation, and student activities other than class functions. He is supervisor of the English Department, a job he will hold until a suitable replacement is found. Mr. Renz is a graduate of Arlington County Public Schools and of George Washington University.

MR. HENRY RENZ

Deans

MRS. MARY MARÉ

Mrs. Mary Maré graduated summa cum laude from Bucknell University and is a member of Pi Lambda Theta, the National Honorary English Sorority. Thus, she is well qualified for her duties as Assistant Principal, Director of the Twelfth Grade Division, and Dean of Girls.

Besides being Dean of nearly 1,200 girls and having other duties, Mrs. Maré is the founder and sponsor of Wakefield's oldest continuous organization, the Wakefield Guides.

In addition to being Assistant Principal and Dean of Boys, Mr. Richard Johnson is Director of the Eleventh Grade Division.

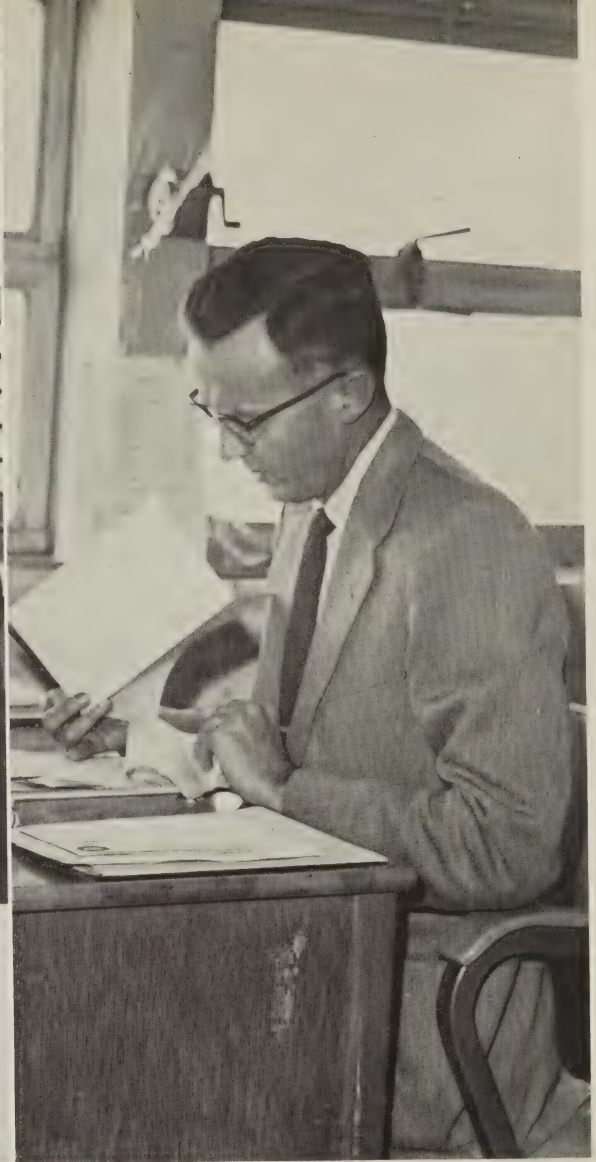

Mr. Johnson attended the University of Virginia and George Washington University. His responsibility for the boys of Wakefield extends to the arranging of parental conferences when they are considered essential, and the assignment and supervision of detention. Mr. Johnson also coordinates the custodial services in order to insure adequate care of the school building. An additional duty for Mr. Johnson is that of Chairman of the Finance Committee.

MR. FRANCIS M. CAMPBELL

Mr. Francis Campbell, Director of Guidance serves as a link between the school administration and his staff. Among his other duties, Mr. Campbell assists new students in planning their courses and supervises the cumulative records of all students. Mr. Campbell also participates in many related outside activities which complete his obligations.

MR. MILO SONEN

As Director of Health, Physical Education, and Athletics for the past eight years, Mr. Milo Sonen includes in his duties the co-ordination of Health & Physical Education instructional programs, organization of Wakefield Day, the sale of athletic tickets, and training in fire and air raid procedure. He also has numerous outside activities related to his duties here.

Guidance

The Guidance Department, under the direction of Mr. Francis Campbell, is an integral part of Wakefield. In an effort to aid students towards a rewarding educational experience, this department functions as a pupil-personnel service. Staffed by seven excellently trained members, the Guidance Department's primary responsibility is the counseling of individuals, which provides students with an opportunity to understand their abilities in relation to their aspirations.

Group counseling is employed to acquaint the student body with academic and vocational information. Such activities as College Night, where representatives from leading colleges are given the opportunity to discuss requirements and fulfillment of the college curriculum, are made available to interested students and parents. Testing programs, which aid in the evaluation of the pupil, are administered by this department. These guidance activities serve as a catalyst for individual counseling sessions.

The Guidance Department is also responsible for the registration of new pupils as well as the supervision of school records. Two counselors are assigned to each grade level so that each student's needs are adequately cared for.

Mrs. Fletcher is the Secretary to the Deans, Mrs. Mare and Mr. Johnson; Mrs. Davies is Secretary to Mr. Renz. Mrs. Scott is Secretary to the Guidance Department. Mrs. Parker is in charge of Central Attendance. Mrs. Hawk operates the switchboard this year, and Mrs. Dowden is Treasurer. As Registrar, Mrs. Stout admits new students, forwards the transcripts of transferees, and sends transcripts to colleges. During the summer, which is the busiest time of the year, Mrs. Fletcher, Mrs. Stout, Mrs. Davies, and Mrs. Zabawa remain to do the office work for the school. This year secretaries for the individual grade levels have been added, with Mrs. Davies for sophomore and junior classes and Mrs. Zabawa for the senior class.

In sophomore English, students are not only introduced to world literature, but are also exposed to the various writing forms, including the short story, novel, essay, and play. The tenth graders are familiarized with the formal research paper and are aided towards developing the techniques of expository writing. Their English experience also includes a review of grammar and two weeks are spent developing skills in reading taught by Mrs. Minor.

The English Department is currently investigating the possibility of large group instruction and the use of new techniques for the teaching of grammar with audio-visual equipment.

The department consists of nine teachers who teach five different languages. Four years of French, Spanish, and Latin are offered, while three years of German and one year of Russian are also taught. Russian I was offered for the first time at Wakefield this year. This was a first in Arlington, County. Intensified classes are offered for students with a special aptitude for foreign languages.

The foreign language laboratory, which accommodates thirty students, is designed to provide more listening and speaking experience for the students. Groups of students will again visit foreign countries in the spring to aid them in their foreign language studies. French students will go to France, while Spanish students will tour Spain.

In the advanced placement courses, sophomores study Algebra II and Solid Geometry; juniors, Trigonometry and Analytic Geometry; and seniors, Advanced Algebra and Calculus.

The department, which is undergoing a reorganization program, is incorporating more visual aids in the classroom this year, some of which have been made by students. The department sponsors the Mathematics Research Laboratory which is open for the use of students who wish to increase their knowledge of mathematics and its uses. Acquired under the National Defense Education Act, the new teaching machine is proving to be of good use to the faculty and students of this department.

Also new this year is an improved physics laboratory which is twice the size of the former one. Students who take both mathematics and chemistry are allowed double laboratory periods.

There are various activities connected with the science programs. Field trips are taken to the National Institute of Health, and the Agricultural Research Center in Beltsville, Maryland. There are several clubs sponsored by the department including the Rocket Society, Chemical Society, Biology Club, and the Moon Watch. Approximately forty-five per cent of the Wakefield student body is enrolled in business education courses.

A staff of eight, under the supervision of Mr. Donald Lynn, makes many varied courses available to the student. These courses include business arithmetic, business law, economics, bookkeeping, business machines, clerical practices, general business, typing, and shorthand.

The courses are organized to accommodate both the student who is preparing for college and the student who is preparing for immediate employment. Most colleges and universities throughout the nation accept the business credits earned here.

Business students operate the school store and bank. The school store handles well over $18,000 every year, all the profits going into the general fund for the disbursement by the Finance Committee. In six years the accounts in the bank have risen from $5,000 to over $56,000.

On-the-job experience during high school is one of the important benefits offered by the three work-training programs this year.

The Distributive Education program gives the fifty-six participating students part-time work experience in such areas as department and variety stores, specialty shops, and service stations. These students have been selected through careful screening by Mrs. Patricia Stinnett. The program particularly emphasizes good public relations between the school and the community.

With the expert guidance of Mr. Stemple, the Diversified Occupations organization has qualified boys working as auto mechanics, commercial cooks, printers, television and radio repairmen, optical mechanics, and upholsterers. Girls work as nursing aides, beauticians, dental assistants, and physical therapists. With this opportunity to participate in actual working conditions, the students are better able to understand the business world they will be entering.

Now in its sixth year of operation, the Vocational Office Training program offers its students not only business education and on-the-job work experience, but also school credit and pay for their work. Miss Bette Browning, director of the program, accepts a student only after extensive study of his tests results, school and attendance records, and recommendation by his counselor. After this research, the student is referred to a prospective employer for an interview. The student participating in the Vocational Office Training program are employed in various community businesses and industries.

Home Economics

The Home Economics Department includes five courses. Three of these courses include work in all areas of Home Economics fields; the other two, foods and clothing, are more specialized in their content. All the courses are built on the basic aims of the department. These aims are to develop an understanding of the responsibilities of family living, to discover and to develop capabilities, and to give basic training for rewarding and satisfying careers.

The department also offers short courses lasting three weeks for seniors enrolled in Study Halls. Another unusual feature is the nursery which is sponsored by Miss Elizabeth Skorupa. The variety of programs offered by this department has proved successful and rewarding to the students.

Industrial Arts teachers try to familiarize the student with the operation and maintenance of much of the equipment used in the Industrial Arts courses. The variety of courses helps to train students for an occupation or interesting hobby in later life.

Aided by two full-time assistants and one half-time secretary, Mrs. Adelaide Von Alven successfully directs Wakefield High School's library. The outstanding reference section has been aided by the recent addition of the Oxford English Dictionary. The collection of books, which numbers nearly 13,000, is augmented by over 100 periodicals. The history and science sections, in particular, are of superior quality. To supplement the other sections, the library maintains a large Audio-Visual department, which is available to all classes.

The art department is responsible for the many colorful and attractive displays in the library. Art work, left to the school by members of previous senior classes, is displayed there, also. These works of art aid in making the library a pleasant place in which to study.

These groups perform at the District Music Festival, Arlington County Music Festival, neighboring junior high schools, and a variety of community functions.

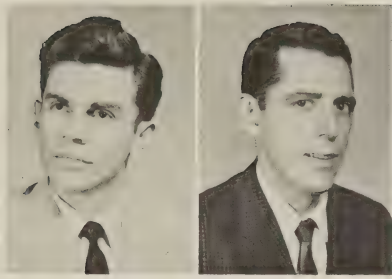

By means of a wide range of musical experiences, both listening and performing, students are given the opportunity to increase their knowledge, technique, and appreciation of music so as to make it a more meaningful part of their adult lives. Furthermore, the program attempts to give students a change of pace in the school schedule and an activity which they may use as an adult as a vocation or avocation.

Students are made aware of career opportunities, and creative aspects of art common to all subject areas are stressed.

The department began using joint class for lectures this year, and helped develop the Art-English seminar.

The goal of the department is to project the student's creative abilities from the classroom to the entire student body. Posters, drawings even statues, have added to the beauty of the school as well as to the satisfaction of the individuals.

Boys' Physical Ed.

The Boys Physical Education Department strives to provide an emotional outlet for students as well as to render guidance in the rules and skills of numerous athletic activities. Sophomore and junior boys are instructed to the code of good sportsmanship and the rules of physical fitness. Senior boys are given an opportunity to participate in physical education as an elected subject. All boys are encouraged to participate in the extensive sports program organized by the Boy's Intramural Sports Association sponsored by Mr. Robinson.

The department instructs boys in such sports as soccer, speedball, touch football, track, basketball, wrestling and tennis. Sophomores are provided with training courses in civil defense and first aid in addition to their athletic instruction.

Girls' Physical Ed.

Dr. Price demonstrates the swing technique in badminton.

This year the Girls' Physical Education program at Wakefield is designed for sophomore and junior girls. For sophomores the requirements are one semester of physical education and one semester of health study. Studies in health include personal analysis, first aid, and the struggles with addiction to alcohol, tobacco, and narcotics. Their semester of physical education is devoted to such sports as volleyball, basketball, badminton, field hockey, archery and tennis. Juniors are instructed in these same sports for the entire year. Seniors, while not required to take physical education, may participate in the afternoon intramural program.

Special Education

The Special Education Department, headed by Miss Ebeth McCumber and Mr. Joseph Simasek, is comprised of fourteen students instructed in these subjects: social studies, mathematics, English, physical education, and either home economics or industrial arts. In addition, some of the older boys attend the George Mason Vocational Training Center which helps them prepare for future employment.

The Special Education program is not exclusively confined to the classroom. Many extracurricular activities are offered these students as, for example, three boys work as sports managers and one as a library assistant.

Clinic

The Clinic is one of the most active areas of the school with approximately 150 students sent there each week. The nurse, Mrs. Helen Trusch, and the nurse's aid, Mrs. Joan Todd, are ably assisted by thirty students, who work during their free periods. These students give first aid and do a large amount of the clerical work. The main responsibility of the Clinic is to render first aid. The staff does not treat or diagnose any illnesses. Mrs. Trusch must approve the health of all boys who are candidates for competitive sports.

Mrs. Minor compares students improvement with past performance.

Reading

In coordination with the English Department, Mrs. Sophia Minor of the Reading Department strives to strengthen reading skills of all Wakefield students. She also assists teachers in learning to use more effective skills in their work.

All students take the six week course given through English classes. This course stresses the development of greater reading speed and comprehension. Concentration on, organization of, and attention to materials while reading are also emphasized.

The main purpose of the department is to help each student improve his reading skills. This will help students not only in their present school situation but in the future as well.

Mrs. Minor instructs a class in speed reading skills.

Jack Crowley, president of the SCA, and John Fuller prepare the agenda for the next SCA meeting.

Chris Parel—Vice President of the Student Cooperative Association.

The purpose of the Student Cooperative Association, of which all Wakefield students are members, is to provide for the effective transaction of matters concerning the student body, and to encourage student participation on all school activities. The governing body of the SCA, the Student Assembly, is composed of a president, vice president, recording secretary, corresponding secretary, representatives of each class, and seven cabinet officers who deal with various areas of school life.

This year under the leadership of SCA president Jack Crowley, the Assembly has successfully initiated and carried out several worthwhile projects. The SCA supervised the W-L Pep Rally; the talent show, "Here Come the Warriors"; the forensics contest; the election of varsity and JV cheerleaders; the honor study hall program; and the campaigns and election of new SCA officers. The Assembly also started a fund for a scholarship to be given to a deserving senior, drew up a policy for Wakefield dance procedure, initiated a program of student assistance to teachers, and partially completed the paving of the student parking lot.

Kinji Tsunashima, of Japan, spent the school year 1960-61 observing the enthusiasm of Wakefield students for all aspects of school life. While living with Roy Loutzenheiser and his family, Kinji participated eagerly in all activities. In order to make his stay here a true exchange, Kinji spoke before assemblies, honor societies, and clubs about life and customs in Japan.

The talent show, "Here Come the Warriors," and Bermuda Day not only sponsored Kinji's stay here, but also sent two Warriors to Europe in the American Field Service's "Americans Abroad" program. Jim Stark went to Denmark for seven months and Marilyn Zoeller spent two months in Germany.

While living and sharing the life of his Danish "family," Jim learned to cope with the problems which attending school six days a week brings.

Marilyn, like Jim, found how close exchange students feel to their host families. She came to know the opinions and feelings of her family and was able to exchange views with them on many subjects, just as Jim was doing in Aabenraa and Kinji in Arlington.

All agree that the AFS exchange program is an extremely broadening experience. Mentally, the value is immeasurable, for everyone concerned learns to accept and appreciate other cultures and ways of life.

Speakers during an American Field Service program are Kinji Tsunashima from Japan, a G.W. student, Marilyn Zoeller, Adrienne Marmarosh, an Annandale student, and Peggy Neumann from Germany.

The Philomethan chapter of the National Honor Society is one of the largest and most active organizations at Wakefield. Under the sponsorship of Miss Frances Keck and Miss Marjorie Richmond, the members of NHS have contributed to school life in many ways. For several years members of the society have assumed responsibility for guiding representatives from colleges to their assigned rooms at College Night, and many NHS members have ushered at various other school functions. Another traditional responsibility of NHS has been to provide a tutoring service in which members who are strong in a particular subject voluntarily help other students who need assistance in that subject. This year NHS members joined with members from the other Wakefield honor societies in participating in the Student Assistance Program by devoting one study hall period per week to assisting teachers with time-consuming clerical work.

The theme of the honor society's program meetings this year is "Wide World." In connection with this theme, the NHS heard Mr. Cannon C. Hearne from the Department of Agriculture speak on the United States' responsibility in aiding underdeveloped nations, and Mr. George Moran from the Department of the Navy spoke to the society concerning recent progress in the Polaris submarine program. The three Wakefield exchange students, Kinji Tsunashima, Marilyn Zoeller, and Jim Stark related some of their experiences to the NHS, and another Wakefield senior, Faye Atkinson, discussed ballet.

Members of NHS have always been required to maintain a high academic average. In addition to qualifying scholastically, applicants are asked to supply faculty verification of their service to the school and of their character and leadership qualifications. Thus, membership in the National Honor Society is considered one of the highest honors a high school student may receive.

Mu Alpha Theta, the Wakefield chapter of the Mathematics Honor Society, is the largest student organization in Wakefield. Under the able leadership of Mrs. Ruth Hoy and Mrs. Julia Hirsch, the society strives to enrich its membership by promoting various field trips of interest, and lecture in the specialized mathematics fields. This year's activities were highlighted by the induction of 18 new members at the annual installation ceremonies. Included among its other projects, the society sponsored the mathematics contest and planned several excursions; among them, trips to the Naval Observatory, the Atlantic Research Corporation and the Weather Bureau.

The German Honor Society is a newly established honor society, chartered in May, 1960. This honor society provides a place for qualified students interested in German to come together and learn about the language, the traditions of the German-speaking peoples, and the country itself.

This year the club has had many interesting programs. Brigitte Neumann, a Wakefield student from Germany, spoke in her native language to the Honor Society members about the teen-age life in Germany. The German exchange student now attending McLean High School also came to speak on the school life in Germany. Other programs featured German books, records, and paintings, thus expanding cultural horizons.

In January, the German Honor Society inducted thirteen new members.

At another meeting several students from the society participated in a discussion concerning the merits of continuing Latin or taking another language course following Latin II. Also, an induction ceremony was held for the new members of the society.

The Spanish Honor Society gives recognition to individual students who have maintained at least a 3.0 average in all subjects and higher than a 3.0 average in Spanish. Inductions for new members are held in the fall and in the spring.

Through a tutoring service initiated this year, persons who were in need of help in Spanish were able to receive instruction from members of the Spanish Honor Society. Another project was the reorganization of the records of the Society. In addition, SHS joined with the Wakefield Spanish Club in some social activities, such as an excursion to see José Greco, the famous flamenco dancer. Perhaps the most interesting and exciting of the Spanish Honor Society's activities was a field trip to Spain in the Spring.

Guides conduct tours for visitors

The Wakefield Guides Association holds the honor of being the oldest continuous organization now at Wakefield. Its members are selected with the approval of teachers, the administration, and present Guides on the basis of scholarship, character, and appearance. Under the supervision of Mrs. Mary Maré, the Guides have made significant contributions to school life. Among these are the orientation of incoming sophomores in the spring and the greeting and welcoming of new students at Wakefield in September. Members conduct tours of the building and explain Wakefield's educational program to groups of student teachers and other university groups. Members act as official hosts and hostesses to the foreign visitors who come to Wakefield and conduct the social evening at the Washington International Center once or twice a year. As the school year draws to a close, the Guides contribute to Commencement activities as ushers for Baccalaureate and Graduation. The Guides took on the additional pleasure of preparing teas for our distinguished guest speakers at the all-girl and all-boy assemblies this year.

Officers of the Wakefield Guides this year are Sally Stokes (vice president), Adrienne Marmarosh (president), and Donna Clarke (secretary).

The Quill and Scroll is an inactive group of members of publication staffs and is conducted as an honor society. Its activities consist of an organizational meeting and semi-annual inductions. Those eligible for membership are the members of the STARSTONE, SIGNAL and PENDULUM. Students must be scholastically in the upper third of their class, and must have participated in some type of high school publications prior to being approved by their advisor.

Joan Solinger, Editor-in-Chief of the SIGNAL, calls the printer to discuss the paper's progress.

During sixth period and occasionally after school, 35 staff members under the direction of Editor Joan Solinger and Mrs. Mary Toivanen, advisor, prepare the SIGNAL for press. The newspaper is published twice monthly and provides students with an opportunity to display talent in the fields of art, photography and business as well as journalism.

The SIGNAL announces coming events, records social and athletic affairs and voices the opinions of students through editorials and letters to the editor. The staff is composed of seven page editors who work on alternate issues, a copy editor, reporters, business staff members, art staff, photographers, and a production crew. This year the position of star reporter was added to the line of promotion.

Because the SIGNAL is a photo-offset printed newspaper, the staff not only writes and edits the copy, but also pastes the columns of copy prepared by the printer onto dummy sheets. Headlines made on a Headliner machine and captions typed on the Vari-typewriter are added to complete the paste-ups. A metal plate made by the printer from the photographic negative of the dummy sheets is used for the press which rolls off 2,200 copies of the SIGNAL for each of the twenty issues.

Members of the student body are encouraged to submit short stories, poems, essays, sketches, paintings and photographs to the staff for consideration. The literary staff, headed this year by Mr. Stevens as faculty advisor and Co-Editors Karen Askegaard and Linda Christensen, then select, revise, and correct the articles. An art staff handles advertising and cover design and illustrations. THE PENDULUM is financed by contributions from student organizations and interested members of the community. 1961 Starstone

The 1961 STARSTONE staff, under the leadership of co-editors-in-chief Donna Clarke and Elaine Hoag, has strived to maintain the standard of excellence established by last year's yearbook which received the Columbia Scholastic Press Conference's Medalist award.

Jointly sponsored by Mr. Gerald Groves and Mrs. Helen Sullivan, the annual is the product of concentrated student effort. The staff, composed of selected members of the student body, is divided into several groups, including the copy, activities, photography, class, and sports sections.

The theme of the 1961 STARSTONE serves not only to picture the students and activities of Wakefield, but to depict the spirit, life, benefits, and "personality" of the community, which is the cultural center of the nation, Washington, D. C.

It is hoped that all who read the 1961 STARSTONE will find it attractive, as well as interesting and enjoyable, and that the high standards evidenced in every phase of Wakefield life are reflected in the quality of this yearbook.

Mixed Chorus members learn choral techniques

In this, its third year, the Mixed Chorus presented several assembly programs and concerts for the enjoyment of the student body. The Chorus repertoire included selections from early church music, secular music of the madrigal period, folk songs of many lands, and contemporary works and modern show tunes.

The purpose of the group, which is composed of boys and girls in the sophomore, junior, and senior classes, is to provide for the voice training of its members and to acquaint them with choral techniques.

Girls' Chorus entertains at school functions

The Wakefield Girl's Chorus continued to be a cultural outlet and to provide entertainment for the school and community throughout its fifth year at Wakefield. In preparing for their concerts the girls, who represent all three grades, received individual instruction and attention from Miss Whittaker. Their repertoire included selections from early church music to contemporary choral pieces.

Members of the Girls' Chorus rehearse every day in the music room.

Bonnie Beck, Dovie Horn, and Randy Griest practice a song for the annual concert.

The Wakefield Singers are a group of juniors and seniors of unusual talent and interest in the field of choral music. These students have the ability to read and interpret very advanced musical selections. The Singers make an average of fifteen appearances at school and community functions each year. The group also gives an annual concert at the Washington International Center.

Several members of the Wakefield Singers formed the Choraleers, which sang a medley of songs from "South Pacific" in the talent show.

Members of the string section patiently await their cue.

The original purpose of a school orchestra is to develop in the student a real appreciation of one aspect of our cultural heritage through performance. The Wakefield orchestra, conducted by Mr. Harvey Krasney, in carrying out this purpose, has offered the student body a complete diet of music ranging in style from Bach to Bartok.

The orchestra has presented many musical programs for the enjoyment of the student body and faculty including an annual Christmas program and Spring Concert. The 57 member group also took part in an orchestra program with Yorktown and Washington-Lee High Schools, was invited to play for a concert in Washington, D. C., by the D. C. Recreation Department, took its annual trip to the Arlington junior high schools, and participated in the Virginia District IV music festival. The string section of the orchestra went to the Virginia State String Orchestra Concert in Richmond.

Concert Band's busy year highlighted

Under the direction of Gerald M. Lewis, the Wakefield Concert Band has become well-known in the Washington area. Dressed in green and grey uniforms, this seventy member organization performs for assemblies at Wakefield and at nearby Arlington Junior high schools. The band participates in the annual All State Band Clinic and District Music Festival, and presents a formal concert each spring. In addition, this year it combined with the instrumental and vocal groups from Washington-Lee and Yorktown for a fall music festival.

Members of the woodwind section practice for a forthcoming assembly.

These girls were selected by the student body from a number of candidates nominated by the football team. Queen Sharon and her court were presented with flowers during halftime of the Homecoming Game and reigned over festivities at the Homecoming Dance the following evening. At the dance Sharon was crowned Queen and was given a gold football charm as a memento of her reign.

features floats, skits

Each fall the Student Assembly stages a pep rally to promote school spirit for the football game with Wakefield's traditional rival, Washington Lee. At the beginning of the rally a huge bonfire is lit, and during the course of the evening several Generals are burned in effigy. A float parade contest is conducted and the princess on the prize-winning float becomes the Queen of the W-L Pep Rally. This year Solis Tri Hi Y won first place with a float depicting a group of hungry Warriors waiting for their share of a General roasting on a spit. This signified "Generals, Breakfast of Champions". Pat Grimes of Solis was crowned Queen and reigned over the remainder of the activities. Numerous skits were presented by Y-clubs between cheers led by the varsity cheerleaders. In addition, the captain of the W-L football team spoke to the student body, as did the captains of the Wakefield football, soccer, and cross country teams, and Coach Schulte, who urged the students to support their teams by attending athletic contests.

Carol Loeb as Emily (far right) meets the dead in Grover's Corners cemetery in the final act of "Our Town."

Our Town goes on despite snow, illness

On December 16 and 17, the Wakefield drama department produced "Our Town" under the direction of Mrs. Marjorie Acker. This classic play, written by Thornton Wilder, was produced under many hardships, but the final result was a high school play of the finest quality.

Bad weather was one difficulty encountered by the cast and crew. Heavy snows prevented some rehearsals and almost delayed the actual production date. However, "the show must go on," so even when David Bryant, who was to play the Stage Manager, had to leave "Our Town" because of illness three days before the play was to be put on, a solution was found. John Moran took over the part and not only learned all the Stage Manager's lines by the night of the play, but also gave an outstanding interpretation of the role.

Emily Webb and George Gibbs, the two central characters in this story of life in an average New England town, were portrayed by Carol Loeb and Fred Giammona, respectively. The families of this couple were Terry Longstreth as Mr. Webb, Rayla Sterling as Mrs. Webb, Alfred Tugman as Wally Webb, Roger Schwenke as Dr. Gibbs, Daryl Halborg as Mrs. Gibbs, and Kristie Houser as Rebecca Gibbs. Other cast members were John Nitti, Jim Smith, Mike DeLatour, Kermit Helmick, Linda Bowing, Dennis Payne, Marc Ostinato, Iva Cooke, Larry Myers, Barry Field, Mike Tatch, Douglas Harry, Nancy Jenkins, Becky Snow, Janice Norwood, Marsha Fridge, Pam Glover, Ann Niskanen, Charlotte White, Becky Schwab, Pris Lowell, and Suzanne Smiley. Student directors were Linda Isenberg and Will Owens.

"Our Town" was produced by the Wakefield company in the traditional manner of no scenery or props.

Editor Webb (Terry Longstreth) leads Emily (Carol Loeb) up the aisle as the wedding guests "ooh" and "ah."

After her death Emily (Carol Loeb) relives a day of her life. Here she says good morning to her mother (Rayla Sterling) before breakfast.

Rayla Sterling as Mrs. Webb instructs her children Carol Loeb and Alfred Tugman, who portray Emily and Wally, to eat a good breakfast before leaving for school.

Emily (Carol Loeb) wonders at the youthfulness of her mother (Rayla Sterling) as she reenacts a day of her life.

The Stage Manager (John Moran) serves sodas to Emily (Carol Loeb) and George (Fred Giammona) in Mr. Morgan's drug store. It was here that Emily and George first realized that they were in love with each other.

Congratulations on a fine performance are given the cast and crew of "Our Town" by backstage visitors.

"Here Come the Warriors," the Student Assembly-sponsored talent show, was given as a benefit for the American Field Service "Americans Abroad" program. This year's show was very successful, a fact to which the "standing room only" attested. "Here Come the Warriors," directed by K. T. Johnson, Marcia Smith, and Stephanie Machlin and led by Jack Crowley as master of ceremonies, was well representative of the student talent at Wakefield. The variety of acts included singing groups, combos, pantomimes, dances, and dramatic readings. The backstage work was managed by a crew of Thespians.

A happy family scene from "Mildred Is My Name," directed by Judy Cosgrove.

Under the direction of Miss Sylvia Hert, three students undertook the task of casting, directing, and producing a play for the one-act play festival this year. John Moran directed "Overtones," the story of two women and their consciences. Judy Cosgrove was the director of "Mildred Is My Name," which showed an "average" girl living with her mother and grandfather in a little cottage. Fred Giammona directed the winning play, "The Proposal" by Anton Chekhov. This is the comic story of a nervous Russian landowner who goes to his neighbor's house to ask the hand of his daughter in marriage. The engagement is finally settled despite constant arguments between the girl and her suitor.

After winning at Wakefield, "The Proposal" went on to the district contest held at Washington-Lee.

Seniors triumph over Juniors in annual game

After having been the first junior class team to win in the junior-senior basketball game, the Class of 1961 was again victorious in this traditional game between the two classes. Following a senior victory in the girls' game the senior boys' game was nearly lost. In the last minute of the game, Randy Ward scored the tying basket and Gary Taul the winning two points.

At halftime an amusing show was provided when Mr. Winkler appeared as "Pedro" and Mr. Groves as "Junior." Junior cheerleaders wore blue and white uniforms while the senior cheerleaders wore red and white. Both groups of girls made their own outfits.

Senior cheerleaders Susi McCarthy, Jeanne Hughes, Tina Tachino, Kay Howard, Meredith Burgin, and Lee Henry yell for their team.

This year's Science Fair opened with over 350 exhibits and displays; from these many exhibits two were chosen to go to the national science fair in Kansas City, Missouri, in May. Both students whose exhibits were chosen were from Wakefield. They were Ed Jones, a senior, whose exhibit was in the field of mathematics, and David Zalkind, a sophomore, who also worked with mathematics. The purpose of the Science Fair is to give students the chance to express and display their work in the many fields of science and to discover new talent in these fields.

The D.O. Club held the traditional Snow Queen Ball, where Marcia Smith was chosen queen on the basis of appearance, talent, personality, and poise. Senior Sharon Sells reigned over the Homecoming Dance festivities. In addition, the Student Assembly sponsored the annual Alumni Dance, a record hop on Bermuda Day, and a "Kingston Trio at Large" party after a football game.

Wakefield Day means fun for everyone

Emily Mangum draws on request at the Art Display.

Wakefield Day, sponsored each spring by the Wakefield P.T.A., is a traditional event and one of the most eagerly anticipated in the school calendar. At this carnival, parents organize contests for the enjoyment of the student body. Among these are the greased pole climbing contest and the inter-club tug-of-war. In the evening the P.T.A. sponsors a fashion show and a moonlight record hop, at which a Miss Wakefield is selected. At Wakefield Day 1960, senior Pat Creekmore was chosen Miss Wakefield. Johnny Dark of the WEAM radio station spun records and announced dedications at the dance. Student Clubs and societies contribute to the pageantry of Wakefield Day with activities such as a car rodeo, an art display, and a melodrama; games ranging from a baseball throw and ring toss to guessing the lucky number; and food concessions selling pizza, pastry, ice cream, cotton candy, hot dogs, and soft drinks. The clubs donated half of all the money they collected at Wakefield Day to the P.T.A.

The structure of the Key Club, part of the Kiwanis program, includes divisional, district, and international levels on which Key Club members compete for offices. Stressing personal excellence, the club presents its Sandy Nininger Award every year to the one Wakefield senior considered to have done most with his potential abilities during high school. Scholarships are awarded to the valedictorians and salutatorians by the Key Club and their sister club the Keyettes.

Sponsored by Mr. George Bell this year, the Wakefield Key Club served the school and community by supervising the parking lot at athletic events, caroling at Christmas time with the Keyettes, and playing lunch music for the seniors. In addition to their weekly meetings, the Key Club has attended district and international conventions, an officer-installation banquet, and Kiwanis dinners within the community.

The Keyette Club of Wakefield is an active service organization sponsored by the Arlington Kiwanis Club. The many activities of the Keyettes this year included filling baskets with food for needy families, joining with the Key Club in singing Christmas carols at Fort Ward, volunteering their services to the TB X-ray mobile unit, and handing out safety cards. Keyettes are also active at school and give annual scholarships to Wakefield valedictorians. The club donated money to the music department for stereo equipment, as well. Keyette money-raising projects were selling pizza, name labels, and Wakefield dolls.

This year, under the coaching of Mr. King, with the assistance of Mr. Reynolds, the club presented routines in tumbling, vaulting, and trampoline during half-times of basketball games and at other community activities.

The Gymnastic Club's members held regular practices at Wakefield throughout the year. In addition, they had the opportunity to practice with the University of Maryland gymnastic troupe and to observe excellent college gymnastics at the United States Naval Academy.

Varsity squad debates in No. Va. league

Coached by Mr. Richard LaBrecque and Mr. Edward Reynolds, the Debate Club gives interested students an opportunity to gain practice and experience in debating. Beginning in the fall, the members worked on case preparations, and in January had practice debates. During February and March the varsity squad participated in Northern Virginia Debate League debates. The varsity squad was composed of Carol Baldwin, captain, and Mike Krieger, affirmative; Glenn Kambler and Stephanie Machlin, negative. One of the highlights of the year for the squad was beating the Washington-Lee debate team.

The Diversified Occupation Club, a nationally sponsored organization, is composed of all interested members of the Diversified Occupation work training program.

Their intention is to develop well-rounded employees by providing excellent training in citizenship, academic development, social relations and the formation of good work habits in respect to their vocation. The activities of the club include attending the District DO Club convention, the State Convention, and sponsoring the traditional Snow Queen Ball. These activities show the progress the students are making in better business habits.

Rifle Club Trains Marksmen

In its three years of operation, the Wakefield Rifle Club has built up a membership of about fifty, making it one of the largest clubs at Wakefield. The purpose of the club is to provide training and practice for those students interested in rifling who first pass the qualifying tests.

With Mrs. Helena Powell and Mr. John C. Sasscer as sponsors and Sergeant Fols as instructor, the Rifle Club shoots at Fort Myer

Rifle Range each Thursday. Within the next year or two, the Rifle Club hopes to have a shooting range at Wakefield where the club and team can practice and hold matches.

This year a varsity rifle team was formed out of some of the more expert shooters in the club. They held matches at least once a month and won the majority of them.

Art Club encourage members' talents

The Art Club of Wakefield is primarily an organization of students who meet and work at their own pace on various projects. This year, under the leadership of president, Lyndia Reed, and faculty sponsor, Mr. Symes, the members worked creatively for individual self-expression. The activities and projects selected by the members included painting, sculpture, jewelry making, and commercial art.

Art club members Esther Greenfield, Marcia Reeves, Mary Coghlan, Nancy Rowan, Carole Eubank, Evelyn Grogan, Tori Laird, and Philip Darrington work on their individual projects.

Chess Club defeats W-L

Sponsored by senior English teacher Mr. Richard Tarravechia the Wakefield Chess Club this year posted a $13\frac{1}{2}$ - $6\frac{1}{2}$ record in individual games with other schools and attained a number two standing in the Northern Virginia Chess League. The club is also a member of the Metropolitan Area Chess League.

Among the chess clubs notable accomplishments is a 5-0 victory in individual games over Washington-Lee. Other results of the teams' first four matches with other schools include a 4-1 victory over Hammond, a $2\frac{1}{2}$ - $2\frac{1}{2}$ tie with Annandale, and a single loss to Fairfax, 3-2.

The ladder system determines the ranking of the club's members; the top five make up the team which plays other schools. According to this system all players start out with 1000 points and gain or lose 50 points for each win or loss at the weekly meetings.

Thespians publicize, act, work on crews

In this, their second year, the members of Troupe 1214 of the National Thespian Society rendered many services to their school and club. Under the guidance of their new sponsor, Miss Sylvia Hert, the Thespians revised their constitution in its membership and attendance aspects. It also held informal get togethers to read plays and also inducted new members in the spring.

While the society as a whole made posters to publicize school dramatic productions, individual members participated in cast and crew work on the fall and spring plays and the one-act play festival. A bulletin board was posted with items of interest to all students interested in dramatics. In addition, Thespians sold doughnuts before school to hungry classmates who had missed breakfast.

Fred Giammona pleads with Phyllis Cavedo to boost the Thespian treasury by buying a doughnut.

Examining the Thespian records and scrapbook are officers Becky Snow, treasurer; Kristie Houser, president; Dee Dee Hickman, secretary; Nancy Jenkins, historian; and Jane Culley, vice president.

Rocket Society keeps up with space age

The Wakefield Rocket Society is a nationally recognized organization that encourages students' interests in astronomy, electronics, and rocketry. One of its main purposes is to keep the Wakefield student body in step with the space age.

This year the club was divided into divisions, each division dealing with one of the above-mentioned fields. Those members interested in astronomy worked on the alignment of the telescope in the senior court and built a protective cover for this instrument. They also did some sky-mapping photography with emphasis on the planets. The electronics division constructed such instruments as an antenna, a transmitter, and a cyclotron. It held code-practice sessions in order to be qualified for an operating license. Members working in the rocketry division spent much time doing research on new rocket fuels. They also instructed new members in the construction of rockets.

Members of the Spanish Club are: Bill Heritage, Randy Armstrong, Kent Mayer, Drena Uschak, Diane Melia, Emmett Mannix, Roger Schwenke, and Marlis Stoner.

The activities of the Spanish Club are designed to promote a cultural interest in Spain and the other Spanish speaking countries. Visits to several Spanish restaurants were the most frequent activity. Members visited the Colombian Embassy in November. During January and February members attended performances by Jose Greco, the famous Flamenco dancer, and Carlos Montoya, a Flamenco guitarist. They also saw the Washington International Center and the Pan American Union.

FBLA presents business award

This year a Mr. and Miss FBLA and a Mr. and Miss Future Executive were chosen by the Northern Virginia chapters of the Future Business Leaders of America. For entertainment at the judging there was a singer and a pianist, plus an educational skit with Hamond High School.

For the purpose of making money, the FBLA sold Mason Candy during and after school. Also they helped in the Regional Planning Meeting on Nov. 12, 1960, which was held on March 18, 1961.

Some other activities included in the FBLA calender were an after-meeting bowling party, a trip to the Arlington Trust Company, a banquet for incoming officers, a spring picnic, and the presentation of an award to the best business student at Wakefield.

Future Teachers of America organized

The Wakefield Future Teachers of America Club, newly formed this year, is one of many sponsored by the National Commission on Teacher Education and Professional Standards. The main objective of this club is to interest good students in teaching and to achieve and to maintain a balanced supply of qualified teachers.

At the meetings there are special guest speakers or group discussions concerning professional attitudes, opportunities and difficulties in the teaching field. The emphasis of speakers and films is on the importance of education and educators to the community.

In addition, the FTA is planning a teacher assistant and observation program. This would give students interested in teaching the opportunity to visit, observe, and assist teachers in nearby schools.

The Future Homemakers of America is a national home economics club which strives to improve home and community life. Membership is open to all girls who have had a year or more of home economics. The main activity of the Wakefield chapter this year was planning the county-wide picnic for FHA members and their families, to be held at Wakefield in May.

Sponsored by the home economics teachers, meetings have centered around the heritage of Wakefield, new types of Christmas gifts, the earning of degrees and this year's fashions. Some of the girls took a three-day trip to New York in January with other Arlington FHA groups.

Profits from bake sales and the sale of candy helped send a delegate to the State Convention. Many FHA girls attend the co-ed camp on the James River during the summer.

Ted Hatzfeld, Gene Cowan, Chuck Satterfield, and Bob Pascoe discuss first aid and Civil Defense techniques.

The Wakefield Rescue Squad was organized in October of 1958 for the purpose of protecting the Wakefield student body. The Rescue Squad acted as first-aid stand-bys at football, basketball, and baseball games. They were also present at fire and Civil Defense drills to see that all proper safety steps were carried out. Each member of the squad passed standard and advanced first-aid training and by the end of the school year had spent 27 hours of drills in fire-fighting training sponsored by the Arlington County Fire Department. Members of the squad were taught modern, up-to-date methods in the use of heavy and light rescue equipment by Captain Crum of the Washington Fire Department.

Proving its value to the community as well as the school, the squad aided 178 people throughout Arlington County and fought two major fires at the Pentagon and Congressional School.

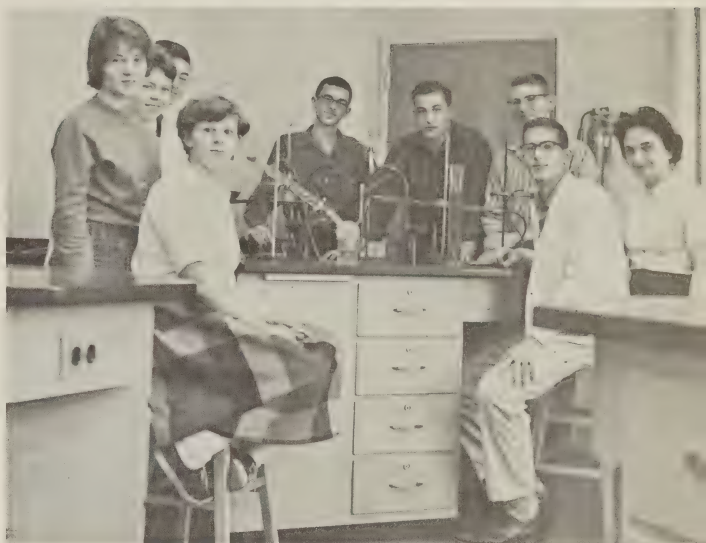

Society encourages chemical research

The Wakefield Chemical Society made it possible for its members to further their enjoyment of chemistry. This purpose was achieved by several means. The members were able to use most of the facilities of the school laboratory for experiments. Films which helped explain the principles of chemistry were shown and speakers were invited to some of the meetings. The society encouraged its members to work on projects which were exhibited at science fairs, done for display to students taking chemistry, or merely for pleasure.

Several times this year the chemistry classes had an opportunity to buy materials which helped to make the course easier. The society sold lab aprons, periodic charts, and formulators to those students who were interested. These sales, along with the collection of dues from the members provided the necessary finances for the society.

Photography Club holds contest

The Photography Club has had a well rounded and active program this year. Among its many activities were a picture-taking field trip to the President's Cup Regatta and a school-wide photography contest. It has also had numerous showcase exhibits. The Club has done such services for the school as taking pictures at many of our dances, publicity snapshots for the fall play, and pictures of the cheerleaders, teachers and clubs for the STARSTONE and SIGNAL. Throughout the year, it has also held informal classes on how to improve one's photographic techniques.

Photography Club members are:

Inter-club council supervises club week

The club program at Wakefield offers many opportunities for students to develop and expand their interests, social contacts, service in the school and community, and active participation in school life.

All clubs are represented in the Inter-Club Council, an organization under the supervision of the Secretary of Clubs in the Student Assembly. Through the Council, the clubs are officially chartered by the Student Cooperative Association. In the fall a Club Week is held to publicize the various clubs and their activities. There is also a club bulletin board and handbook.

Y-council coordinates Y-club program

Wakefield is fortunate to have numerous Tri Hi Y's and Hi Y's as a part of the extracurricular program. Y-Clubs are sponsored by the YMCA and serve their school and community through projects which range from supporting an orphan overseas to collecting for the March of Dimes to making posters to advertise school events.

Each Y-Club is represented in the Y-Council, which is designed to coordinate the various activities of the individual clubs. The Council organizes and sponsors activities such as two induction ceremonies—one in the fall and one in the spring—for new club members; Y-Mixers, get-togethers for all Y-Club members; the Y-Sing; and the Christmas basket contest, by which basketsful of food are donated to the needy. At the end of the year the Council presents an award to the year's outstanding Hi Y and Tri Hi Y.

Collecting for the March of Dimes, publicizing traffic safety for the National Safety Council and working for the Tuberculosis Association were among the many activities of Alpha Tri-Hi-Y this past year. The girls also participated in the YMCA dedication and the W-L Pep Rally. At Christmas Alpha fixed a basket of food and presents for a needy family. To finance these activities, bake sales were held once a month and candy was sold after school.

Promoting school spirit has been one of the chief projects of Amici Tri-Hi-Y this past year. The club kept up a bulletin board on which news clippings of athletic contests were placed, sold megaphones, and made pom-poms for the drill team, the marching squad that they helped originate. Amici squads lit the traditional bonfire at the W-L Pep Rally, as well as entering a float in this event.

At school Amici worked in the Lost and Found and Book Store, publicized the activities of the music department, served at the spring varsity banquet, participated in the Y-Sing, decorated for the Homecoming Dance, and helped in the school office during the summer.

Chi Hi Y packages pep rally prizes

Chi was a newly organized Hi-Y composed mainly of sophomores. In service to the community the club helped collect money for the March of Dimes and collected food and clothing for a needy family. Club members drove cars in the parade preceeding the ground-breaking ceremony for the new YMCA building. The packaging of prizes for the W-L Pep Rally was another service of Chi. They also helped with the Y-Mixer and the Faculty Follies. Despite the time and effort they put forth in service projects, the members still found time to enjoy recreation and entertainment together.

Caroll Chesy, Suzie McCarthy, Anne Stoutenburgh, Cathy Smith, Nancy Shannon, and Sharon Sells mend football jerseys as an Eta project

In the beginning of the year Eta Tri-Hi-Y provided the seniors with class ribbons to show their seniority. Eta did much to promote enthusiasm for football games by selling tickets, making posters, decorating bulletin boards, covering football frames for the players to run through, buying flowers for the cheerleaders at the football banquet, and preparing a float and skit for the W-L Pep Rally. Eta also decorated for many school dances and holidays, rode in the YMCA Parade, sponsored a Korean orphan, counted money for the March of Dimes, and donated a Christmas Basket to a needy family. To help finance these many projects, bake sales were held by Eta's members.

Gamma is a newly organized Tri-Hi-Y consisting entirely of Sophomores. To build up the club's treasury, members sold candied and caramel apples, made and sold pom-poms, and collected coathangers.

Service projects of Gamma included working regularly for the Red Cross, working for hospitals and the T.B. Association, making a Christmas basket, and donating a Christmas to Arlington Hospital.

Members attended the Y. M. C. A. Officer's Training Camp at Camp Letts, Maryland, in October. The club also entered the Y-Sing.

During its first year of operation Gamma has worked hard to become a permanent part of Wakefield.

With the help of their sponsor, Mrs. Misner, Iota Tri-Hi-Y has completed many worthwhile projects this year. They sponsored the Varsity Drag dance in the fall which helped them to finance the support of a Korean orphan. They donated a basket of food, clothing, and toys to a needy family during the year and was in charge of decorating the goal posts during the football season. The club also made many posters encouraging students to support our teams and was in charge of publicizing the baseball movies and the swim meets.

Under the guidance of their sponsor, Miss Miriam Bowman, the members of Lambda Tri Hi Y have carried out many worthwhile service projects. They donated food to needy families at Thanksgiving and Christmas and collected money for the March of Dimes. At school Lambda entered a float in the W-L Pep Rally and participated in the Y-Sing. The club sold Wakefield corsages during the holiday season. Lambda also made numerous posters announcing athletic events and decorated a bulletin board in the main hall.

Maximi donates food for the needy

One of Maximi's activities was participating in the annual Christmas basket contest.

Maximi Hi-Y, a new group at Wakefield this year, showed its interest in its school and community by making donations of time and money to activities in these areas. Maximi displayed their school spirit by presenting a skit at the W-L Pep Rally. Members sold fruit cakes at Christmas and entered the annual Christmas basket contest. At Thanksgiving they donated a basket of food to the Arlington Welfare Department. In addition, Maximi participated in the YMCA parade, which commemorated the laying of the cornerstone of the new "Y" in Washington.

Omega Tri Hi Y has served its school and community well this year. By making posters for the track, soccer, and swimming teams the club has added much to school spirit. Among its many helpful activities it contributed to the "Pendulum" and to the scholarship fund; provided a Christmas tree for the Senior court, and entertained at the W-L Pep Rally with a float.

Outside of school Omega has aided by doing such things as working as volunteers at a hospital on Saturdays, helping with the March of Dimes and cancer drives, providing a Christmas basket and presents, carrying on bake sales, and participating in the Y.M.C.A. dedication parade.

In addition to these projects Omega has still had time for get together's and bowling.

School projects included the making of posters for the "Here Come the Warriors" talent show. Omicron's membership also found time for fun, attending a showing of the motion picture "Exodus" together. The girls held bake sales after school and financed their activities.

Foremost in the activities of Phi Hi Y was the "Chiefs of '61," the senior class newspaper which was a joint publication of Phi Hi Y and Solis Tri Hi Y. Working steadily at this, they also found time to partake in other activities including Christmas caroling and the producing of a Christmas basket, intra-club football, a float in the fall pep rally, taking children trick-or-treating on Halloween, and the Y Sing. In order to make money the boys sold doughnuts.

Pi collects sheets for cancer patients

The members of Pi Tri-Hi-Y have contributed their time and energy to many worthwhile projects. At the beginning of the year Pi collected white sheets for cancer patients. Later, they made bean bags for children in hospitals and baby-sat for children of faculty members. The girls also had fun raking leaves. They had a bake sale, made and filled a Christmas basket, and gave a Bible to a needy family. At Christmas time, Pi bought and decorated a Christmas tree which the club placed in one of the Wakefield lobbies. Other activities included participation in the Y-Sing and ushering at a Post-Sponsored Concert of the National Symphony for high school students from out-of-town. Pi also made posters to encourage school spirit.

Pi officers Kay Willey, Virginia Learch, Sue Smiley, Ann Horton and Mary Mann coordinate the activities of the club.

Rho Hi-Y helped make what was perhaps the most important contribution to school spirit this year—the “Go, Warriors Go” sign which hung in the boys’ gym at all home basketball games. However, Rho’s service only began here, as the club participated in the March of Dimes drive and prepared Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets for needy families. Rho boys also decorated the gym for several school dances and won the fall sports competition between Y-Clubs. Y-Sing winner for the past two years, Rho entered the competition again.

At Christmas, the members of Solis set up a tree in a lobby, went caroling with their brother Hi Y, decorated a bulletin board, and won an honorable mention in the Christmas Basket contest. Solis contributed to school spirit by making posters for varsity teams, helping with the financial support of the swim team, and winning first place in the float contest of the W-L Pep Rally. Their services to the community included taking children trick-or-treating on Halloween, sponsoring field trips for orphaned children, collecting for the March of Dimes, helping with the March of Dimes dance, and making dolls and tray favors for various hospitals. Solis also assisted various teachers, made door signs for College Night, ushered for the fall play, and helped publish "CHIEFS OF '61", the senior class newspaper. Moneymaking projects were regular bake sales and raking leaves.

Stellae donates to scholarship fund

Stellae Tri Hi Y has been organized at Wakefield for the past three years. During this time, the girls have aided the community through bi-weekly visits to the National Orthopedic Hospital, serving as nurses' aides. This year they have contributed to such worthwhile organizations as the March of Dimes and CARE. In a further attempt to aid the community, they participated in the Christmas basket contest.

Stellae has supported school activities by contributing to Wakefield's literary magazine, the Pendulum, to the track teams, and to the SCA's newly organized scholarship fund. Stellae was also responsible for the Foot Ball, a record hop held after the Madison football game. At the traditional bonfire prior to the W-L game, members of the club portrayed the Wakefield football team of 1930, featuring some of our most illustrious faculty members. Stellae also managed the costumes for the Faculty Follies.

Tau collects for UNICEF

The main project of Tau Hi Y this year has been to secure ads for the STARSTONE. The club supported athletic events by making posters and entering the float in the W-L Pep Rally. Baskets of food were prepared by the club at Thanksgiving and Christmas. Tau's Christmas basket won two third places plus an honorable mention in the annual Christmas Basket Contest. Tau's members also made and sent stuffed animals to children's homes and collected money for UNICEF. Money making projects of Tau were bake sales and the "Grundy Grunch" dance.

Theta Tri-Hi-Y members, all sophomores, have been active this year with projects to serve their community and promote school spirit. Decorating the halls of the school with "Go Team" posters, the girls also participated in the W-L Pep Rally with a prize-winning float. They busied themselves about the school serving refreshments at the February Y-Mixer and entering the Y-Sing. Not forgetting the community, Theta visited the D.C. Junior Village, worked for the Arlington Tuberculosis Association, helped promote the Christmas Seal campaign, and worked with the X-ray mobile unit. In order to augment its treasury, Theta held numerous bakesales.

As their two major projects of the year, members of Ultimi Hi-Y sponsored the Heart Fund Drive in the senior class in memory of Charter member Thomas Waterman, and ushered at all basketball games and wrestling matches.

Ultimi participated in interclub football and basketball, collected for the March of Dimes, helped with the formation of a Wakefield Scholarship fund, participated in the Y-Sing, supplied medals for the Wakefield Invitational Track Meet, and donated an Electronic flash to the STARSTONE. The club fixed food baskets for needy families at both Christmas and Thanksgiving and participated in the W-L pep rally. In addition, Ultimi's float won the grand prize in the YMCA parade, which was the longest parade ever held in Arlington County.

This year, Ultra Tri-Hi-Y concentrated its activities toward services to the community. In keeping with this goal, members spent a good deal of time helping with patients in the crippled ward at D.C. General Hospital. The girls also collected money for the Red Cross and books and magazines which were given to Arlington Hospital. Ultra held several bake sales, the proceeds of which were given to the Wakefield music department.

Xi participated in the W-L Pep Rally by presenting an Indian dance and a Japanese cheer skit. At Christmas they prepared a Christmas basket and decorated a Christmas tree in the cafeteria lobby.

To raise funds, the members of Xi sold candy from door-to-door, as well as conducting bake sales at the Fort Myer Post Exchange.

Zeta Hi Y has made numerous worthwhile contributions to the life of the school and the community. The club filled baskets with food for the needy at Thanksgiving and at Christmas, collected for the March of Dimes, cleared the entrances to the school during snowy weather, donated money to the music department, sponsored the Wakefield Majorettes, and sold ice cream after school.

Zeta once again held its annual "Gorp" dance, as well as a "Madhouse" dance, and helped with preparations for SCA dances, the Senior Class Party, Y Mixers, and Psi Tri Hi Y's Openhouse. Zeta's members also presented the half time show at the Junior-Senior basketball game, entered a float in the W-L Pep Rally, and sponsored a sports car gym-kana at Wakefield Day.

The Warrior football team completed a rebuilding season this fall with a 5-5 record. Under the coaching of Mr. Walter Schulte, Wakefield turned in a respectable season after the loss of 27 seniors through graduation. In the opening game of the 1960 schedule, the Warriors scored an 18-7 victory over the Mt. Vernon Majors. The Warrior's next game with J.E.B. Stuart ended with an 18-13 Raider upset. Wakefield then traveled downstate to meet a powerful Warwick eleven. The Farmers took advantage of several Warrior fumbles and downed Wakefield 20-6 with an outstanding ground attack. Wakefield played host to an undefeated Annandale team in their next outing, and lost a close game 12-6. Wakefield got back on the winning road by defeating their next four opponents. The Warrior's victims were Falls Church 32-19, G. W. 12-7, Madison 19-0, and Osbourn 20-0. Arch-rival Washington-Lee defeated Wakefield 14-13 as a conversion attempt was blocked by a W-L tackle. The season's final game against Hammond was close until the final moments when the Admirals scored three quick touchdowns for a 26-6 victory.

G. W. Game

Wakefield, thanks to a fourth quarter touchdown, was able to defeat a stubborn George Washington football team at Alexandria Municipal Stadium. Playing without the services of several key players, the Warriors wasted little time in scoring their first touchdown. Eight plays after the Prexie's first punt, John Ball sprinted seven yards for the first Warrior score. There was no further scoring during the first half as the Warriors were constantly plagued by penalties. Early in the second half the Presidents recovered a Warrior fumble and scored their only touchdown on a 17 yard run. The conversion attempt was good and the Prexies led 7-6. Wakefield's final drive for the winning touchdown came when Lee Waters recovered a Prexie fumble on the G.W. 34. This drive was climaxed by Pat Vaughan's 1 yard plunge. The last G.W. threat was averted when Kent Mayo intercepted a Prexie pass and the Warriors ran out the clock to end the game.

The first encounter of the 1960 football season for the Warriors with the Mt. Vernon Majors saw Wakefield score a 18-7 victory on the losers field. The Warriors racked up the first score of the night as quarterback Bill Bawcombe rolled out to his right on an option play and after gaining 10 yards, lateralled to John Ball who carried the pigskin 80 yards for the Warrior touchdown. However, the Majors went to the locker room sporting a 7-6 lead on behalf of a touchdown and a successful conversion attempt. The Warriors ran past the Majors for their second touchdown just before the third period ended. After recovering a fumble on the Mt. Vernon 26 yard line, the Warriors were able to register their third touchdown of the evening on a 7 yard run by John Ball. Following several fumbles on behalf of both teams, Karl Veit, a Warrior linebacker, intercepted a pass and moved the pigskin to the 9 yard line. Marshall then ran the ball over to bring the score to the final 18-7.

Displaying great power on offense and defense, the Warrior football team crushed the Osbourn Yellow Jackets 20-0. Sparked by the fine quarterbacking of Tim Hill, the Warriors achieved their second consecutive shutout. Pat Vaughan opened the scoring with a five yard plunge after a 36 yard run by Tim Hill. Dennis Fabella kicked the first of his two successful conversion attempts. In the second period Hill rolled out 35 yards for the second Warrior touchdown. This concluded the scoring for almost two periods. But late in the final quarter, Ray Hill recovered an Os-

The soccer team finished their second season of varsity competition with 2 wins and 5 losses. The Warriors, under the direction of Mr. Edward Reynolds, compiled a very respectable record against college and high school teams. They defeated the American University Freshmen 3-2, and split a pair of games with the Georgetown Frosh, winning 3-2 and losing 4-1. The Warriors were less successful in high school competition, losing all four of their encounters. Lack of experience was the most important factor during the past two seasons, yet a steady improvement was shown with each game. Seasoned returnees should provide the soccer team with the added experience which was lacking this year.

Members of the cross country team discuss the results of the Wakefield Invitational.

The Warrior cross country team was faced with the loss of many outstanding juniors and seniors this year through graduation and transfer. Mr. Julian Stein, the cross country coach, found only two returning varsity lettermen from which to form a squad of seven. The rest of the team was formed primarily from former junior varsity harriers and inexperienced sophomores. In the Warrior's first meet with St. Johns', co-captains Boyd Poush and Tony Mayer led the harriers to a 26-33 triumph. The Warriors annually take on the Navy Plebes and the Maryland Frosh in order to gain valuable experience. This year the Plebes defeated

Wakefield by a 16-47 score, and the Maryland Frosh came out on top with a 24-33 victory. The Warriors met Yorktown in between these two meets, and lost to the young Patriots 28-29. Incidentally, seven of Yorktown's varsity harriers had attended Wakefield in the previous year. Without the services of the top three Warrior harriers, Wakefield placed second in a triangular meet with G.W. and Madison. James Madison scored 29, Wakefield 33, and G.W. 64. Wakefield lost to W-L by a 15-42 score in their next outing. Following this meet, the Warriors placed second in an encounter with Hammond and D.J. O'Connell. Hammond was victorious scoring 15, Wakefield 53, and D.J. O'Connell 70. The Warriors placed seventh of thirteen teams in the Wakefield Invitational and fifth of seven teams in the Northern Virginia Meet. Wakefield concluded the season by finishing eighth in the state meet at Williamsburg.

Varsity Basketball

The Warrior basketball team finished undefeated in 26 games and in the process won the Northern Virginia regular season championship, the Northern Virginia District Tournament and the State Championship held in Charlottesville. Former Junior Varsity coach Maynard Haithcock, in his first year of coaching the varsity, led the boys to 26 straight victories and in so doing increased the Warriors' regular season winning streak to 36 consecutive games.

Perhaps the most significant detail concerning the basketball team this season was the overwhelming team balance which was displayed by the cagers. Although each of the starting five had their own outstanding specialties, they all possessed one trait in common—shooting ability. Each member of the first team made twenty points in at least one game during the season; no other team could claim such an accomplishment. At the end of the season the hoopsters had four men averaging over ten points a game with another close behind with an average slightly under nine.

The first real test of the Warrior powerhouse came in the fourth game of the season when it met Mount Vernon and high-scoring Marty Lentz. After leading by 17 points at halftime, the Warrior cagers saw this seemingly insurmountable lead dwindle until the Majors tied it early in the fourth period. However, clutch shooting by Warrior reserves enabled Wakefield to pull away and romp to a 59-47 victory. Other roadmarks in the cagers' season were their triple victories over rival Washington-Lee. In the District Tournament the Warriors met W-L, emerging 45-37 victors, after disposing of Hammond 61-49 and Annandale 66-47. Wakefield's closest game of the regular season came when they played a fired-up Hammond team in the Admirals' gym. It took a last-period surge by the Warriors to defeat Hammond on a night when the Wakefield cage team found it hard to get the range. The final score was 38-34, Wakefield.

The Warriors were the first team to go undefeated in regular season competition in the history of Northern Virginia basketball. The hoopsters were also the first team from Northern Virginia to win the State Championship in fifteen years. As a result of their fine seasonal play the Warriors placed several boys on All-Metropolitan and All-Northern Virginia squads. Ric Duques made the first team All-Met and Gerry Spadetti was placed on the second team. In the All-Northern Virginia selections both Duques and Spadetti were selected for the first team, while Rolf Russart and Gerry Francis were chosen for the second team. Certainly, the success of the basketball team this season has done much to enhance the prowess of Wakefield throughout Virginia and the Washington area. The Warriors' perfect season brought Wakefield to a pinnacle of athletic success.

Winner of District Tournament

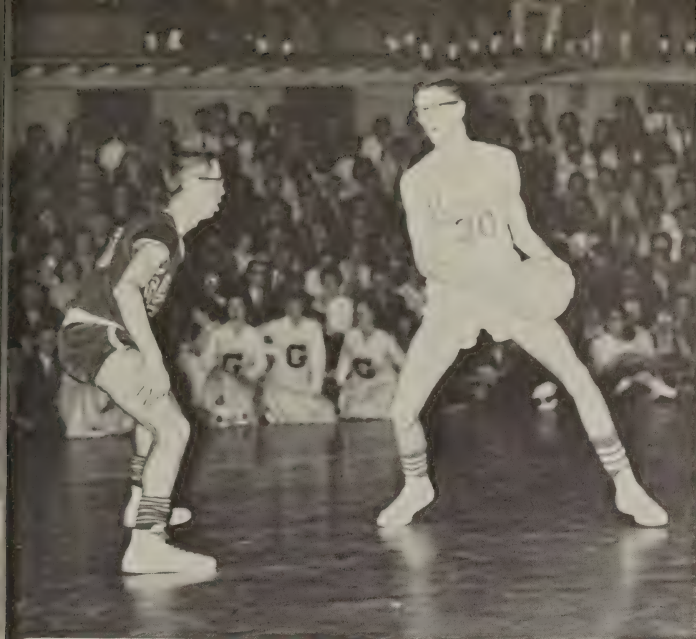

Rolf Russart and Ric Duques block a shot by a Hammond player

After completing the regular season as the only undefeated team in Northern Virginia, the hoopsters were naturally seeded number one for the District Tournament. Although the Warriors were faced to meet eighth-seeded Hammond in their own gym in the first round of the tournament, Wakefield easily walked past the Admirals after jumping to an early 9-0 lead. Led by Gerry Spadetti and Rolf Russart, the Warriors advanced to the semi-final round as Hammond succumbed, 61-49. The second game of the District Tournament saw the Warriors pitted against the Atoms from Annandale. Wakefield led most of the way and again Gerry Francis paced the Warriors as the hoopsters emerged 66-47 victors. The Warriors met W-L in the final game of the tournament as the Generals upset second-seeded Mount Vernon in their bracket of the semi-finals. The final game saw the lead change hands many times before the Warriors finally went ahead in the final moments. By defeating W-L, 45-37, and winning the tournament, the cagers earned the right to advance to the State Tournament in Charlottesville.

State Champions

Entering the State Tournament in Charlottesville with a perfect 23-0 record, Wakefield was seeded second behind the only other undefeated team in the state, E. C. Glass of Lynchburg. Wakefield won its first round of the tourney by defeating Jefferson Senior of Roanoke in a physically hard-fought game, 65-46. Wakefield met the Warwick Farmers in the semi-finals and the Warrior fans who witnessed the game saw the cagers trail throughout until Ric Duques ripped the cords for two points with three seconds left in the game. Down by more than twelve points in the third quarter Mr. Haithcock sent in reserve guard Ron Peters, who found the range for eight straight points and brought the Warriors within two points of the floundering Farmers. However, the last-minute heroics were saved for co-captain Ric Duques, who pulled the game out of the bag and sent the Warriors ahead for the first time in the game, 38-37.

As expected by most of the experts, the final game saw the only two undefeated teams in the state battling it out for the championship. E. C. Glass, paced by their high-scoring center, jumped to an early lead, but the Hilltoppers enjoyed this margin for a short time only as the Warriors came roaring back to take a 20-19 advantage into the locker room at halftime. In the second half the Warriors spurted past the Lynchburg team to turn the game into a virtual rout. After exploding for twenty-six points in the final period Wakefield easily went on to capture the State Championship over Glass by a score of 58-36. The win over the Hilltoppers climaxed a fabulous season for the Wakefield basketball team and it may be said that a finer group never deserved more.

Varsity Indoor Track

In preparation for the annual Evening Star Games the Warrior Indoor Track team met the Plebes of Navy at Annapolis and dropped a one-sided contest, 112-12. In the Star Meet two weeks later, Wakefield finished fifth among a field of forty-one entrants. Prior to the state meet held at VMI, the Warriors defeated the Ma-rooms from Episcopal in a meet which found the Warriors leading for the first time when the two teams left the Episcopal field house. As a result of this win in Wakefield's lone scholastic meet, Mr. Stein's thinclads continued to remain undefeated in high school, dual-meet competition. Although the Warriors were without the services of co-captain and sprint champ John Ball in the state meet, Wakefield was able to finish fifth among twenty-two teams entered. Vann Wilder and Tony Mayer captured individual championships in the high jump and 440-yard run respectively. The season's finale saw the Warriors place a distant second behind the University of Maryland Freshmen.

Mr. Blue's wrestling team posted a 7-3-1 record this year in spite of the fact that they were faced with perhaps their roughest schedule since they entered varsity competition. The first match with South Hagerstown saw the Warriors emerge as 43-3 victors. Following this win, the grapplers gained successive triumphs over Fairfax and Douglas Freeman. Wakefield then lost its next three encounters to rival W-L, B-CC, and Granby. The Warriors were able to get back on the winning road by rolling past Mercersburg 35-7 at Wakefield.

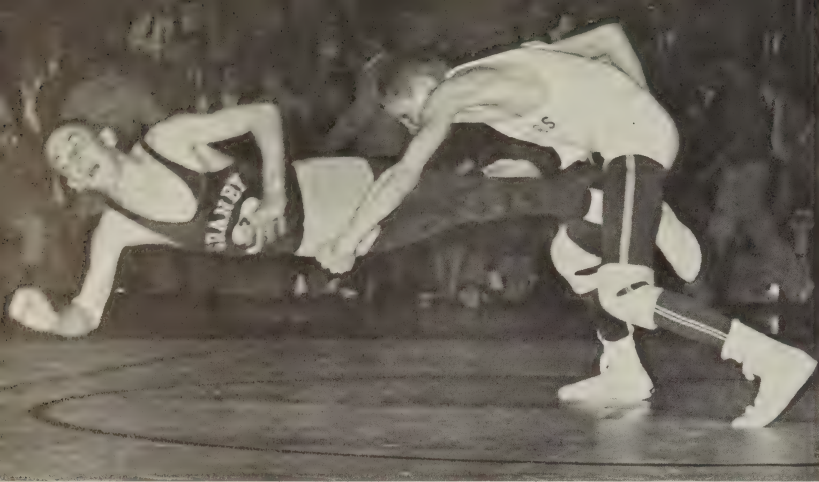

Although the Princess Anne match was cancelled, the Warriors squeezed by Blacksburg 25-24 in a tremendous team effort on the following weekend. William Fleming was the next team to fall before the powerful Warriors by a 34-12 count. The grapplers defeated a previously unbeaten Northwestern squad in their next match. In the second and last match of the season with W-L, the Warriors wrestled to a 25-25 draw. Wakefield placed second in the first Northern Virginia District meet held at Wakefield and sixth in the state meet.

The Swim Team operated again this year on an unofficial basis, although they met varsity competition from other schools. Started in the fall of 1960, the team has continually pressed for establishment of swimming as a varsity sport. This year, Wakefield scored seventeen points in a meet with the Navy Plebes and W-L. By far the greatest achievement of the team in its two years of existence was its performance in the Southern Inter-scholastic Swimming Championships held at the University of North Carolina in February of 1961. Only three of the team's members attended this meet, but their quality of performance placed Wakefield fourth among twenty-seven high schools and prep schools.

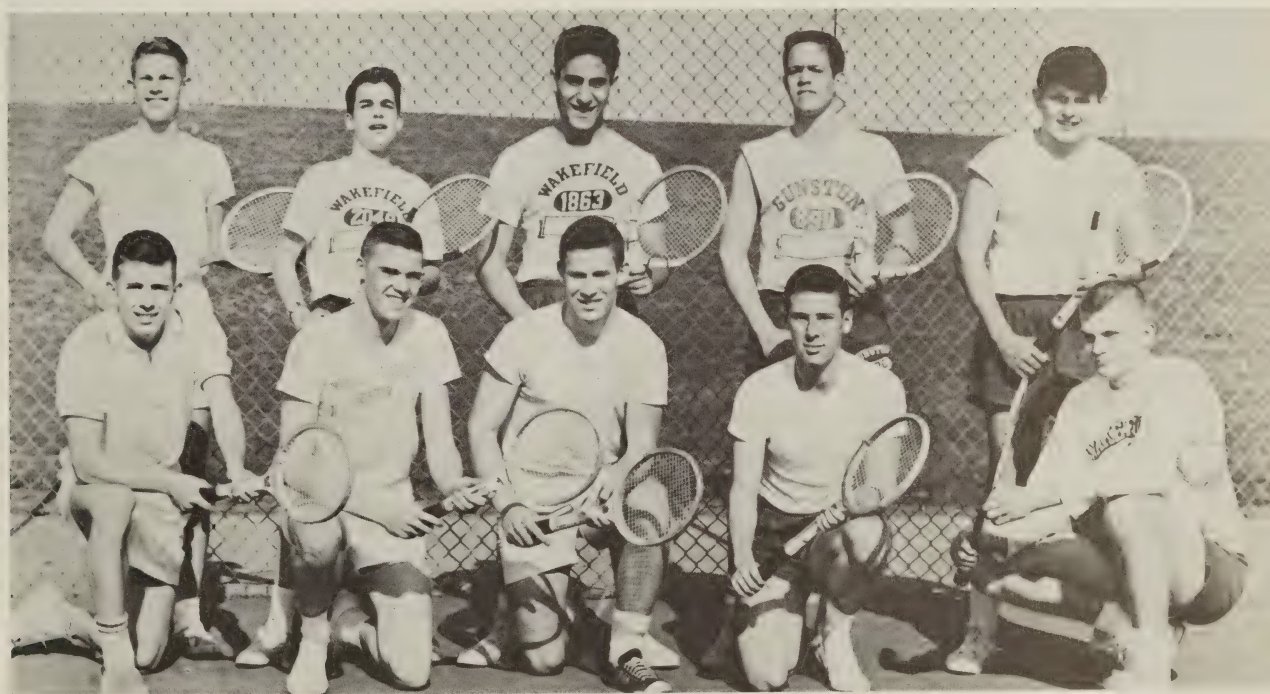

The sponsor of the team is Mr. Robert Wrigley and the President is Tom Burns. The trainer is Stan Tinkham, who in 1956 was the women's swimming coach at the Melbourne Olympics. Under their direction the team practices weekly at the Northern Virginia Aquatic Club in Arlington.

After losing four of the top six players through graduation last year, Mr. Haithcock in his first year of coaching the Varsity Tennis team found himself faced with the prospect of a rebuilding season. However, with the return of most of the members of last years junior varsity, the coach felt that the Warriors have a good chance to improve upon last year's second place Northern Virginia finish behind W-L. Bill Rutzick and John Gailey the only returning lettermen should provide the needed experience for the Warrior netmen.

Formed exclusively by underclassmen, the Junior Varsity Tennis team also under the direction of Mr. Haithcock worked to gain valuable experience from actual match competition in order to enable them to vie for births on the varsity both this year and next.

Even though there were only three returning lettermen from last years squad, many of the returnees are experienced in match play and were expected to form the core of the team.

The tri-captains of the 1960 junior varsity football team were John Solomon, Bill Smith and John Mason.

The Junior Varsity football team, under the coaching of Mr. King and Mr. Wrigley, compiled a 5-1-1 record during the 1960 season. The team got off to a flying start by downing the Barons, from Bethesda-Chevy-Chase 7-0. The Episcopal games proved to be quite a battle, but the baby Warriors came out victorious 7-6. In the first league contest, the junior Warriors defeated a rugged Hammond eleven 9-7 thanks to John Mason's tackle in the Admiral end zone. Mount Vernon was next to suffer defeat at the hands of one of Wakefield's finest junior varsity teams. Playing in the Warrior's stadium Wakefield ran past the Majors 27-0. The only loss of the season was administered by a powerful Yorktown Varsity. The young Patriots scored a 21-0 victory but the Warriors came back strong and rolled over George Washington 24-0. The last game of the season was a thrilling contest with Washington-Lee which ended in a 12-12 deadlock at the General's home field.

The junior varsity cross country team experienced a fine season this year by posting a 6-1 record. In the first meet of the season, the junior varsity harriers emerged victorious over the St. John's junior varsity at the District school by a 26 to 33 score. The Harriers easily defeated a young Yorktown team. The Warriors remained on the winning road by defeating George Washington, Madison, and Fairfax in a quadrangular meet at Wakefield. The Wakefield Invitational followed this meet and the baby Harriers placed third behind strong entrants from BCC and W-L. In the next two succeeding weekends Wakefield split meets with W-L and Hammond. W-L beat the Warriors 22-36 and the Warriors in turn ran past Hammond 33-45. In the Northern Virginia meet held at Episcopal the Warriors captured the junior varsity team championship. Bobby Howells and Voit Hurst fight for a rebound in the Annandale game.

The Junior Varsity Basketball Team, coached for the first time by Mr. Friesem, finished the season with another fine record, winning twelve and losing eight. The junior cagers lost to the baby Generals early in the season, but in meeting for the second time the Warriors, led by co-captain Frank Pulley, rolled to a 40-32 upset victory. In their first meeting with the Yorktown Varsity the junior hoopsters lost a close game with a score of 46-40. The junior varsity completed their schedule by romping over the Osbourn Yellow-Jackets, 66-25. With the loss of the top six from the Varsity it is expected that many of the members of the junior varsity will fill most of the vacancies caused by graduation in June.

Northern Virginia Junior Meet—Second Place

In the only dual meet for the Junior Varsity Indoor Track team, the Warrior thinclads defeated the Episcopal Juniors in what may be termed a rather close meet, 53-46. The Wakefield Juniors placed second in the Northern Virginia Junior Championships held at Episcopal out of a field of eight teams. The experience provided by the indoor season for the Junior Varsity should see many of these members move up to varsity positions during the coming outdoor season.

Co-captains Mike Pennock and John Lane with Coach Oldaker

For the second year in a row, the Junior Varsity Wrestling team finished undefeated in competition with other junior grapplers. The only match in which the jayvee tasted defeat was an encounter with the varsity from Yorktown. A significant feature of the season was the double defeat dealt to the baby Generals in as many years. Most of the matches scheduled were with competition from Fairfax schools. Led by co-captains John Lane and Mike Pennock, the jayvee wrestling team, coached for the first time by Mr. Lawrence Oldaker, figures to provide much of the material needed to form the nucleus of next years squad.

The Junior Varsity Outdoor Track team, formed from members of many of the outstanding junior high track teams in the area, was expected to have another successful season.

The Junior Varsity Baseball Team, which was coached for the first time by Mr. Albert McCulloch, sought to improve upon last year's jayvee record. As with other junior varsity sports, the baseball team was formed primarily from unexperienced sophomores. The members of the junior varsity succeeded in gaining valuable experience which will undoubtedly enhance their chances of filling a varsity position next year.

Sponsored by the former varsity basketball coach, Mr. Robinson, the Boy's Intramural Association has endeavored to provide the boys of Wakefield who do not actively participate in varsity sports with the opportunity to develop skills and appreciation for athletic events. Along with the basic purpose of providing athletic entertainment for the boys in the way of actual competition, the BISA also teaches other basic fundamentals connected with this competition—good sportsmanship and teamwork. By participating in a required number of events an active boy may earn a BISA patch, emblematic of his participation in after-school athletics.

Varsity Cheerleaders

The interest and enthusiasm shown by the Varsity Cheerleaders has done much to improve school spirit this year. The twelve members of the squad were chosen by the student body from a group of thirty girls. During the summer, the girls met to practice cheers and plan their uniforms for this year. The uniforms worn for the basketball season are among the most attractive in the Northern Virginia area. These uniforms consist of a white blouse and white pleated skirt with green corduroy vests and tennis shoes. Their sponsors, Dr. Mary Price and Miss Carol Wolfe, have helped the squad become well organized and effective in promoting support of the teams.

The Junior Varsity Cheerleading squad, which was chosen from a group of over fifty candidates last fall, did much to enliven the school spirit of the underclassmen at Wakefield this year. Under the sponsorship of Miss Louise Hyer, the Jayvee Cheerleaders, attired in their green wool outfits, were able to foster much of the school spirit which was so evident throughout the season.

The Jayvee Cheerleaders were very busy in activities related to sports. Both the Jayvee and Varsity squads made posters to publicize approaching sports events. The girls also decorated the cafeteria for the Varsity Sports Banquet.

We are looking forward to seeing many of the Jayvee Cheerleaders on the varsity squad next year.

Each May, future Wakefield Majorettes and their captains are chosen for the following school term. The ten twirlers are under the sponsorship of Mr. Gerald Lewis, aided by Mr. Mort Irwin. This squad, which happens to be Wakefield's largest, started their activities during the summer. After learning the old routines and trying out new ones, they presented a different performance at each halftime of the football games. Besides twirling their way through football and some basketball games, the corps participated in the annual W-L Pep Rally and various parades around the area, and traveled as well to Charlottesville for the annual Dogwood Festival.

A Memorial Year

Congratulations to the Student Body and Faculty of Wakefield High School for completion of another outstanding year.

The Staff of your annual has worked exceedingly hard to give you a superb book and one which portrays the highlights of memorable activities.

Neither time, effort nor expense has been spared to provide you with a permanent record, attractively presented and complete in every detail.

To preserve the photography and literary efforts of the Staff, the best grades of material have been combined with skilled workmanship to provide the finest quality yearbook.

We are proud that the 1961 Staff elected us to help design, print and bind the STARSTONE. We have earnestly endeavored to fulfill the confidence placed in us.

Highlights of '60-'61

Graduation is a memorable day for the Senior Class.

There is entertainment for all at every Wakefield Day.

Eta Tri-Hi-Y presents a skit at the annual Bonfire.

This is the Wakefield basketball team that won both the District and State Tournaments.

Two wrestlers grapple at the District Tournament.

Bill O'Connor celebrates the District Tournament victory over Washington and Lee by procuring the winning net.

The yearly Junior-Senior Basketball Game always draws a large crowd.

We, the Senior Class of 1961, do hereby dedicate ourselves to the ideals of freedom, to the furtherance of justice, and to the enrichment of knowledge for the elevation of mankind, in continuation of the lasting foundations in education laid for us under the guidance of Wakefield's faculty and administration.

JIM ROWSEY, President

Jimmy - I hope you what with some of the you just love the officers!! (Don't England - we learned 10-2-0 mind -

Best of luck always to a real sweet girl. She been lots of fun having you in her room and grumbling about Mrs. Linder.

Jimmy -
 Best of luck to a real sweet girl.
 We live so close
 we will have to get together more often.
 Also ride to school
 next year. Be good but have loads of fun!

Love ya!

Ginny
 Go a sweet + cute gal.
 Always remember "Billy" and English. Have a blast this summer + be good.
 Hope to see ya next year. Good Luck to you ^{AND} Billy.
 Love ya

 It's been wonderful knowing you the last few years, and hope all will continue for years to come. Good luck and best wishes.

 Go a really wonderful girl with a great personality. May the best always be yours you deserve it. Stay sweet + be good. I'll see ya.
 The best!
 Love ya.

Gin
 Sometimes I'd trade you for a 7-11 beer but all in all you're a pretty swell kid and I couldn't ask for a better sister.
 Just follow my sage advice and true happiness will be yours.
 If you're ever as popular as the "little wahoo" (me) you've got it made. From one twister to another!

My dear Mary,
I have had a wonderful
year here despite all that happened between ~~brother~~ I hope you find the right one and really have a ball!
I hope I see you this summer & maybe we can cook up something to do! Have fun &
I'll see ya next year!

Yours,
Jimmy

P.S. Best of luck
always a true friend
